Democrats win in county, state

School study starts

A notable group of prominent educators has launched a survey which will recommend whether there should be a junior college at Blackey on the campus of Stuart Robinson School.

The board of six men will conduct its studies for the Board of Christian Education, Presbyterian Church in the United States, at the request of the church's Board of Church Extension. The Extension Board has been operating the school for years as a high school. Since Kentucky's Minimum Foundation Law became effective the school has been operated by the Letcher County Board of Education as a grade

Chairman of the survey board for the church is Dr. Ernest V. Hollis, Washington, who is the U.S. Educational Officer in the Division of Higher Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Office of Education.

Dr. Hollis at one time lived in Kentucky and was familiar with the mountains area, and in his position in the U.S. Cabinet department has had much experience in making studies such as the one concerning the Stuart Robinson project.

Other members of the survey team are:

Know your county

Again the Bull Hole takes a grisly toll

By Larry Caudill

Election Day has come and gone, children. It has passed into the limbo which claims most of man's puny puppetry.

Although the sound and fury (signifying nothing) of their campaigning now is muted, you still will hear profound pronouncements from the winners in the battle of the ballots.

But enough will you hear henceforth from the losers in the election.

They have gone, alas, to the Bull Hole.

Oblivion is the ultimate destiny of the defeated.

While this series presumes to deal with events which Time has scribbled on the scroll of Letch County history need not be merely dull data.

Perhaps it needs a bit of flavoring with unfactual flap-doodle.

Of such savor is the saga of the Bull Hole.

What is the Bull Hole? It is a hole in the ground. It is a fearsome fissure in the rocky ruggedness of Pine Mountain, but no map pinpoints it. You may find it by exploring up Big Cowan Creek, or Pert Creek, or Poor Fork. Perhaps up Bee Tree Fork.

Oh well, go fit it for yourself.

What is it? We shall not bother with the learned science of the geologists as to why nature left us such a freak. We shall rely on the lone of the octogenarian authorities within our ken.

Randall Day (age 86) has suggested the Bull Hole is the Bottomless Pit of Holy Writ. Bas Adkins (89) recalls that you can toss a rock, listen to the echoes as it bounces on the ledges, but never hear it hit bottom.

Jesse Day (83) never wanted to leap into the Bull Hole because he feared he would fall to the edge of the earth's gravitational pull, but not to the reach of another planet. He'd just be stuck there, halfway to nowhere, from now on.

Jesse Cornett (85) thinks that those henpecked husbands over the ages who have vanished forever did not actually run away from nagging wives. They just went to the Bull Hole and jumped in.

Lindsey Webb, a mere septuagenarian, notes that the Pine Mountain terrain is ideal cover for illicit operations in the production of corn spirits and does not doubt that

Hale, rest of slate win in Whitesburg

Herman Hale, executive vice president of the Bank of Whitesburg, led a slate of six Whitesburg businessmen to victory in the race for councilman posts in Whitesburg this week.

Hale received the most votes; his total was 268. Ollie Mohr was second with 253 votes and D. L. Moore third with 251 votes. Others on the slate were:

Russell Price, who received 227 votes; Jack Cox, who received 210, and D. S. Setzer, who received 205.

On the opposing slate,

Eugene Daniels led with 156 votes, and Clayton Fields was second with 144. Others were Ishmael Pigan, 133; Johnnie W. Hall, 125, and E. B. Addington, 117.

The group which won had announced with the blessing of members of the present council Setzer and Cox were incumbents. The others are new members of the council, although some of them have served terms previously. Mayor Arthur Banks' term does not expire until 1961.

Democrat Harry M. Caudill was elected to the House of Representatives, to succeed the late Hillard Kinser. Caudill, named as the last-minute Democratic nominee for the post following Kinser's death a few days before the election, defeated Republican Willard Clay by 1,054 votes. The full count was Caudill 4,001, Clay 2,994.

In Perry County, Craft trailed Duhahare by about 600 votes, but with only 10 precincts remaining to be counted there seemed no possibility Duhahare could overcome the commanding lead Craft had from Letcher County.

Complete returns showed today that Letcher County placed itself firmly on the side of the winner in Tuesday's election, giving Bert T. Combs, a 2,323 vote margin over Republican John M. Robison Jr., in the race for governor.

State-wide, it appeared, Democrat Combs won election by a record-shattering margin of some 160,000 votes — a greater margin than ever before given a candidate for governor of Kentucky. In Letcher County, Combs polled 130,000 more votes than G. A. B. Chandler drew in 1955.

The Letcher County figures were: Combs, 5,161; Robison, 2,836.

As great as was Combs' victory margin in Letcher County, he did not lead the ticket locally. That honor went to Archie Craft, Democratic nominee for state senator. Craft defeated Republican Willis Duhahare by 3,405 votes. Craft's total was 5,566, while Duhahare received 2,151.

Democrat Harry M. Caudill also was elected to the House of Representatives, to succeed the late Hillard Kinser. Caudill, named as the last-minute Democratic nominee for the post following Kinser's death a few days before the election, defeated Republican Willard Clay by 1,054 votes. The full count was Caudill 4,001, Clay 2,994.

In Perry County, Craft trailed Duhahare by about 600 votes, but with only 10 precincts remaining to be counted there seemed no possibility Duhahare could overcome the commanding lead Craft had from Letcher County.

Democrats win Jenkins council

A Democratic Party slate won four of six seats on the Jenkins City Council as a result of voting in Tuesday's general election.

The Democrats had the backing of Jesse Bates, Jenkins police judge, who has been at odds with members of the present city council and Jenkins Mayor Bill Terrill. Two members of the opposition slate backed by Terrill and members of the present council, won council seats, but they will be in the minority.

Bates' feud with the council stems from a disagreement over the salary he receives as police judge. Shortly after he took office, the council now in office attempted to reduce his salary from $200 a month to $180. Bates filed suit, and the Court of Appeals ruled he was entitled to the $200 a month which his predecessors had received.

The Democratic slate filed during the primary and won the party nomination without opposition. The other group ran under the party label "Good Government." Carl Johnson, also a candidate, ran under "The Scales of Justice" label.

Here are the unofficial returns:

Cavaliers dominate but lose the game

By R. Percy Elkins

Pikeville's Mims raced 80 yards down the sideline with the opening kickoff and then scored again in the closing minutes to play on a blocked kick to deny Jenkins a much deserved victory.

The Cavaliers completely dominated the game after the runback until the blocked kick with only three minutes to go in the ball game, but managed to score only one touchdown.

Loomis matched 60 yards in the first period to come within one point of the Panthers and seemed certain to overcome the lead and win, but the Green Team failed to capitalize on opportunities and thus were prime for the fourth quarter blocked punt and subsequent score which gave Pikeville its seventh win.

Jimmy Rowlette picked up 86 yards in 18 carries, one of which was a nice 41-yard run to set up the touchdown. A pass to Howard gave Jenkins a first down on the one-yard line of Pikeville where freshman quarterback Russ Adkins sneaked over for his first TD. Chapman had to run with the extra point attempt and failed to make it. Banks picked up 18 yards for Jenkins. Adkins added seven, and Adkins added seven.

and Wolfe got four.

Tackles Clark and Elkins dominated line play with help from Howard, Dunn and Mullins.

Cavaliers Journey To Corbin

Thursday night the young green Jenkins team journeys to Corbin to try to hold the state's fifth ranked team and Billy Byrd to a close ball game. Even the most rabid fans are concluding points.

Basketball season will be inaugurated Friday night as Kingdom Come hosts the Dunham Blue Devils. Under new Coach "King" Smith and paced by Curtis Sloane the Devils will attempt to extend their three-game streak over the Wildcats.

Obituaries

OF HILLARD KINCER

Hillard Kincer was born to the late Lee and Susan Craft Kincer August 12, 1907 at Mayking, Ky., and died at his home in Neen, Ky., October 29, 1959, at the age of 52 years, 2 months and 8 days. It did not seem that during this short span of time he could have possibly entered so many hearts and established such a residence that each one feels he has lost a most precious friend.

Alma Hogg met Hillard, fell in love with him, and they were married January 1, 1933. Alma gave Hillard a son, Eddie, March 1, 1940, who preceded Hillard in death by 19 months.

Yard only had a knowledge of his wife and son. Hillard also loved his church, of which he became a member in 1939. He served the Neon Methodist Church faithfully, serving in all capacities. At the time of his death he was charge lay leader, certified lay speaker, steward, trustee and Sunday School superintendent.

Hillard also loved his fellow man, his town and his country. This was easy to see by the way he worked continually to help those who came to him. He taught school in this area for 10 years, worked in the office of the Consolidation Coal Co. for about 10 years. After buying a hardware store and moving to Neen, he saw the need of good government. He entered politics and served the City of Neen as mayor for about six years before he was elected to serve his people as representative in the state legislature for the past two years.

Hillard has served as president of the Neon-Fleming Lions Club, chairman of the board of directors of Radio Station WNKY, on the board of directors of the Proposed Independent Junior College at Blackey, Ky., and has given his time and talents to several other organizations such as the Boy Scouts, P.T.A., band boosters and county developmental organizations.

After being in Hillard's presence but for a few minutes you would recognize his high moral principles and the true Christian gentleman that he was. His home and his business always reflected a standard of a Christian life.

Hillard's passing has left many a heart broken, especially his faithful wife, Alma, his half-sister, Mrs. Jim Kinney, Mayking, half-brother, Jake of Detroit, sisters, Mrs. Effie Smith, Mrs. Betty Standifer, Manchester, Tenn.; Mrs. Ritter Lay, Ohio; brothers, Nelson, Manchester, Tenn.; Edgar, Charlie and Richard of Detroit, Gordon of Cincinnati, Ohio, and William, deceased.

This sweet tribute to Hillard was written by Dr. Sam W. Quillen of Neon. God bless him.

Kentucky's Department of Education is represented by James Patton, director of Vocational Education for the State of Kentucky.

Overall organizer of the survey project is Dr. Hunter E. Blakely, Richmond, Va., secretary of the Department of the Department of Higher Education, of the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Agency.

Dr. Blakely said of the survey committee: "These men will approach the situation at Blackey with an understanding of the Kentucky mountains and with a real interest in discovering for the church the wisest use of the Stuart Robinson property."

The survey group will gather at the Stuart Robinson campus Nov. 26-28. They will invite educators, churchmen and businessmen from the area, extending over half a dozen neighboring counties, to present their views and consolidate information.

At the end of this conference the survey board will give a preliminary report on their findings.

"Devotion of their time to this project expresses the interest all of these men have in the situation at Blackey and their concern to be as helpful as possible in that area of Kentucky," Dr. Blakely said.

To the Editor: responsibility that is certainly not good for the future of our country.

You know that our state is the poorest in various ways in education than any other state in the union which is just another reflection of this "don't care attitude".

I am sure that our people are just as able and capable of supporting a public school system as the people in other states, but I'm not sure they deserve or want good schools.

If we really want better schools there is nothing but common sense that we must learn to protect and care for what we have before we can get any better.

The money spent repairing the careless misuse of our schools amounts to thousands of dollars annually, and the pitiful thing about it is that we are not ahead one iota.

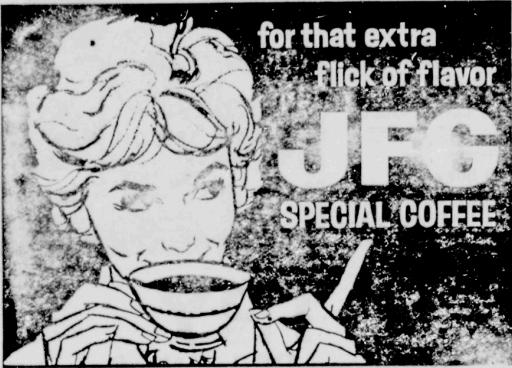

The people who are working for you wish to improve the facilities but if you continue to keep them busy with just maintenance, how can they improve them?

Money expended for good roads, schools, and churches, is not wasted, but is the best investment that we can make, because the increase in property values more than offsets the expenditures to say nothing of the benefits to coming generations.

Our pride and confidence in the future of our nation is reflected in how well we build. So let's build not tear down.

Women visit Coeburn on autumn outing

By Lovell Caudill
Sallie goes to Coeburn, Va.
Yes, Mrs. Ray Collins gathered up a bunch of the old ladies including Aunt Mag Caudill, Sallie Brown and Sallie Ann and motored through the hills of Kentucky and into Virginia to Coeburn to see Mrs. and Mrs. Margie Simmons. They had a wonderful trip and had dinner at a drive-in restaurant. They stayed with Estelle two days, filling in for Ray Collins, who was in Chicago.

The Bluefield school gave a Halloween party last Friday. Kids and parents all had a wonderful time.

Mrs. Ray Brown gave the kids a Halloween party Saturday. About 35 kids and mothers took part. They were served refreshments after the party was over. Everyone was fully dressed in Halloween costumes.

Uncle Sipe passed out with so much excitement, but with the help of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, soon brought him through.

Mrs. Dexter Rogers had a very large crowd for dinner Friday, as the result of a quilling party.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to the wife and family of Hillard Kincer, who died last week. We certainly trust that their loss is heaven's gain.

B. Sexton is home feeling some better, at least he was able to visit the L. D. Foleys of Knoxville, Tenn., last week along with his wife and brother, Onis. They returned to Ulvah Saturday.

Aunt Liza (Eldridge) Miller was able to visit with Army Campfield last Sunday. It sure is violet Brown and Nina Mae Caudill and others spent Saturday in Hazard shopping for winter clothes and shoes. Irene (Brown) Pratt has been pretty sick for the past few days. We sure hope she feels better soon.

Homemakers study drapery selection

Selection of draperies will be studied by leaders of Letcher County Homemakers Clubs at a training school held at 9:30 o'clock (EST) at the Methodist Church in Whitesburg. Miss Elizabeth Burr, Home Furnishings Specialist from the University of Kentucky, Lexington, will give the lesson. The leaders will give it to members of the clubs in January. November is called an open month—each club will provide an educational program of its choosing.

Three hurt in county this week

Three persons were wounded in separate incidents of violence in Letcher County this week.

Willard Collier, Neon, was shot in the arm with a shotgun by Kate Seals at the Seals home near Neon. Sheriff John Fulton said the Seals woman told him Collier tried to break into her home and she shot him when he refused to leave.

Fulton said two panels of the door to the house had been broken, and the woman said Collier had kicked them in. She was charged with reckless shooting.

Encino Scott suffered a knife wound at Letcher Friday night.

Sheriff Fulton said the wound was inflicted by Scott's brother-in-law, Fields, who was charged with malicious cutting.

Mrs. Lindsey Mullins Haymond, was injured Tuesday night when her husband fired a shotgun blast at her, Fulton said. He said he did not know details of the incident. Mullins was jailed on a charge of shooting and wounding.

Fulton said he had heard of no incidents in connection with Tuesday's general election.

Banks rites held

Funeral services for Lester B. Banks, 43, of Ice, were held Sunday at the chapel of Craft Funeral Home.

Banks, a bookkeeper at Boone Motor Co., died by drowning near the home of his father.

Survivors are his parents, Grant and Rausey Stallard Banks, a daughter, Jane Ross Banks, five brothers and two sisters.

Contest set Monday

On Monday, Nov. 9, at 9:30 a.m., representatives from the different high schools in Letcher County will be participating in an "I Speak For Democracy" contest.

Students will be allowed one entry in the contest. The speeches must be written by the students, and the time limit is five minutes. The speakers will be judged on content, delivery, and originality.

This program will be a live broadcast over Station W.N.KY.

Every high school in the county is allowed one entry.

HOLIDAZE AHEAD! Thanksgiving's just a few weeks away, and Christmas closer than you think! Lots of festive plans being made at my house—how about yours? If the rushy holiday season is going to keep you running, why not ease things a bit with a handy Extension phone where it will help most. In the kitchen, say, where you'll be doing double duty. Or in the bedroom where you can chat in peace. Extension phones come in pretty colors, and cost very little.

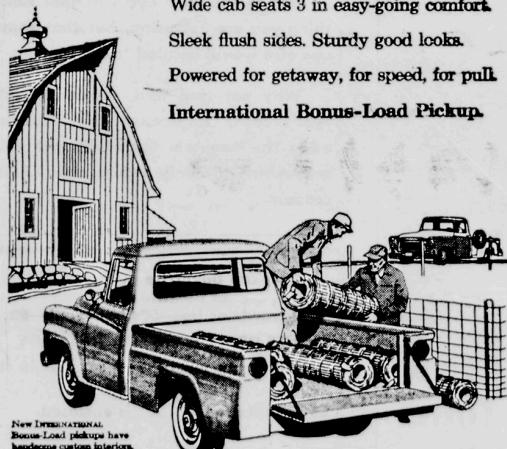

SPEAKING OF DAZE—folks planning to build a new home can sure get into one! It's hard to think of ALL the things a new home should have for easy, modern living. If you're planning to build (or remodel) here's a helpful suggestion. Let us help you arrange for concealed telephone wiring. While your house is being built or remodeled the telephone wiring can be built into the walls, and you'll have extra outlets when you need to change your telephone location. Simply call us to learn more about this plan for convenience.

WORKING ON THE RAILROAD Bell Laboratories has had many well-known "firsts." Here's an interesting one I discovered recently. The first public address system for use on a train—particularly for back platform "whistle stop" speeches—was developed by the Labs in 1923. Designed at the request of President Harding, it was used by him on his last trip across country, concluded by his sudden death on the West Coast. For "whistle stop" speeches or just calling around the corner, Telephone Company research is always coming up with something to get the word around faster, easier!

COMING—Friday, November 6—another wonderful Bell Telephone Hour TV program. See your newspaper for time and channel.

4-H Clubs being formed now

By Joe Owens

Asst. County Agricultural Agent
This fall, 4-H clubs in Letcher County will reorganize. All boys and girls who want to join a 4-H club can do so by contacting your community leader or county agent.

If a community does not have a 4-H club now, but you boys and girls want one, why not have some of your parents talk to your county agent?

Also, your 4-H clubs need project leaders for the 4-H clubs. Mothers who are interested in working with four or five girls in a sewing or cooking can do so by contacting your club leaders.
